The line of 23 unisex products, based on aromatherapy is formulated to provide therapeutic results. The beautiful packaging is minimalist, clean and meditative. Travertine uses only jojoba or shea as leading emollients in its

The Travertine Eden Shea Hand and Nail Cream is the luxury product in the line with hand-blended essential oils that evoke the harmonious blend aromas you smell when entering a spa. Grammy-nominated, platinum-selling guitarist Ottmar Liebert stated, 'the Shea Butter is fantastic. It saved my hands last winter. I use it almost every night.' Ever popular are the botanical body washes available in five fragrances, Petal™, Rosemary and Lime, Citrus, Tea Tree and a restful lavender.

The company's philosophy encourages one to achieve well-being, treat themselves well, live with true integrity and to cease living in fear. The travertinespa.com website has a Spa and Wellness Discussion forum where spa aficionados or spa neophytes can find out about the latest in skin care, read the musings from the blog of owner, Terry Carter, or take an artistic stress break and write a haiku. 2006 brought the launch of a luxe sportswear and apparel line with cotton so soft it may become your new favorite relax-wear.
